

Athena Electrical Ltd is a women owned, independent company, offering a wide range of electrical and environmental services.

Based in North London, and with a proven track record in the building industry, we believe that value for money and the highest safety standards are as important as quality workmanship and outstanding customer service.

Established in 1994 as a traditional electrical contracting company, our concern about the environment and our interest in sustainability has led us to extend our offering to include energy assessments and advice, and in 2010 we became MCS Accredited Solar PV Installers. We are dedicated to ensuring that a renewable energy future isn't just a possibility, but a reality.

{faq}who we are sliders{/faq}